

Propensity for the Tyrant Leads to the Betrayal of the Oppressed

News:

While the Minister of Foreign Affairs Cavusoglu was answering the questions of journalists on the last day of the 13th Ambassadors Conference held in Ankara, which was yesterday, he had said: "We need to bring the opposition and regime together for reconciliation somehow, there will be no permanent peace otherwise. That's what we always say".

Cavusoglu, who stated that he had a quick word with his Syrian counterpart Faisal Mekdad during the Non-Aligned Movement meeting in October 2021 in Serbia's capital Belgrade, said that he also conveyed his thought during this meeting. (Agencies 12.07.2022)

Comment:

Although the Messenger of Allah (pbuh) mentions in many of his hadiths the necessity of eliminating cruelty, its ugliness and evil, the vulgar people who are eager to do the opposite, especially those who hold the administration, are unfortunately becoming much uglier. «اتَّقُوا الظُّلْمَ فَإِنَّ الظُّلْمَ ظُلُمَاتٌ يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ» “Fear injustice. Injustice will appear as darkness on the Day of Rising...”

What kind of an agreement, what kind of peace can be made with wild beasts who have been slaughtering millions of Muslims for 11 years with the most brutal methods witnessed in history and causing them to become refugees, who have trampled on human dignity with unimaginable tortures, who have gone to the lowest of the low by rapes and cruelties and who have shown the peak of barbarity by ruining cities?!

While these persecutions and massacres are being carried out against Muslims, those who directly or indirectly support these murderers are accomplices to the same sin. Again, it is a perfect example of hypocrisy that those who use their armies on the ground to serve the political interests of the US are talking about peace today. Emphasizing the need to eliminate terrorist organizations in Syria, does Cavusoglu consider terror only as elements that attack his own territories?

Doesn't the US, Russia, the world's greatest terror states, and their accomplice in Syria Assad – the murderer of millions of Muslims whom he slaughtered, left homeless and caused to become refugees – have the qualification to be the greatest terrorist? And shouldn't the first and greatest struggle have been with them?

We need to ask Mr. Cavusoglu! Will you, who ruined and undermined the revolution which the Muslims wanted to realize on the ground, who give all kinds of support to groups to comply with the US plan, who put pressure on those who do not comply and who stuck a dagger into the heart of the revolution with token military operations, reconcile the oppressor and the oppressed by the political agreement which is your last duty! For you, all kinds of values could be overthrown within the framework of realpolitik, on the axis of interests. You can compromise and keep company with those you called murderers, terrorists for the sake of interests. However, Muslims never have had and never will have this kind of measures and values. The oppressed cannot feel free without breaking the hands of the oppressor. Justice cannot be achieved without taking an eye for an eye from the murderer. Humanity cannot rest easy without the abolishment of the systems and states which are the source of cruelty. This is exactly what you need to do for lasting peace. Otherwise, you will not be able to go beyond advocating the oppressor.

You have not given up on implementing the US plans in the Islamic geography. Due to the fact that you look at life with the dirty ideas of democratic politics, you have never been able to understand the direction, the right, the truth and that which is reasonable and acceptable. A wise man knows that there will be no peace with the murderer of his family, with the oppressor who continues his cruelty.

If you are really going to reason, put aside the Geneva and Astana plans of the US and mobilize your army only for the oppressed Muslims, eliminate the cruel Assad regime and show that you are against the oppressor. Everyone knows that you have the power and the opportunity to do this. But unfortunately, you also show that you do not have courage and determination.

Certainly, the Caliphs who will show this courage and determination will emerge from the bosom of this Ummah. And on that very day, no oppressor will be able to continue his cruelty. No murderer will go unpunished.
