

Breakdown and Trustee Together: What does the Government Aim at?

News:

President Recep Tayyip Erdogan, MHP Chairman Bahçeli's call about the President, "Dear Kurdish brothers, we expect you to hold this hand sincerely, to hold it tightly. We want you to get out of the way of those who are the apparatchiks of Zionist Israel, the lackeys of imperialism, the machinists of the enemies of Turkey." Erdogan also thanked CHP Chairman Özgür Özel for supporting the brotherhood project, and then said, "Why are you bothered by this when our geography has turned into a circle of fire, while members of the terrorist organization are ravaging Esenyurt? You won't be bothered by this. On the contrary, you will support the current administration here" he said. (30.10.2024 TRT News)

Comment:

Erdogan spoke for the first time after his alliance partner Devlet Bahçeli invited the leader of the PKK terrorist organization Abdullah Ocalan to the Parliament to call on the organization to lay down its arms. In his speech, he used good discourse against his political opponents while trying to keep Kurdish voters out of the struggle. Devlet Bahçeli, who assumed the position of spokesman for the new process, was specially invited by Erdogan, because if the process does not find a response on a social basis and suffers a setback, Bahçeli will be declared guilty. Erdogan has given a message of ownership by taking an early lead against this. A day after Erdogan's speech, the CHP mayor of Esenyurt, the largest district of Istanbul and predominantly Kurdish population, was dismissed and a trustee was appointed in his place. We can evaluate the new Kurdish opening of the government, or the Terror-Free Turkey Plan in Devlet Bahçeli's words, as follows within the framework of Erdogan's statements and subsequent developments: Let's remember!

1. The ruling front called for a new social consensus through Ocalan in order to ensure internal peace and strengthen the internal front, using the excuse that the external threats against Turkey have increased.

2. In order for this agreement to be realized, it is aimed to change the constitution and for President Erdogan to be re-elected president. For this reason, it is planned to separate the DEM Party, which is a key party, from the CHP, and to liquidate the influence of the Kandil on the DEM Party through Ocalan and make it part of the social consensus.

3. In the face of these developments aimed at liquidating themselves, Kandil or the PKK launched a terrorist attack against TAI, which is a message to the government and the DEM Party, to make them feel that a process that they do not approve of, cannot take place without them at the table, that Abdullah Ocalan no longer has any influence on the organization, that negotiations and the process should be carried out together with them.

4. After the terrorist attack on TAI, President Erdogan stated that this attack further strengthened their determination to achieve social reconciliation, and that they did not call on the terror barons in Qandil, the addressee of the call was the Kurdish people.

5. Istanbul Metropolitan Mayor Ekrem Imamoglu, with his speech on October 29, targeted President Erdogan and the Presidential Government System and made a speech as if he were the CHP's chairman and presidential candidate, and not a mayor.

6. After these developments, the Mayor of Esenyurt of the CHP was arrested as part of a terrorism investigation and a trustee was appointed in his place. It is seen that the government aims at the following by using the constitutional and the trustee tools together in the context of the new Deconstruction process:

- Those who do not agree with social consensus and do politics under the influence of Qandil will not be given an opportunity; the influence of Qandil on politics will be tried to be eliminated.

- The DEM Party will be made a part of the social consensus and an attempt will be made to break away from the CHP and isolate the CHP in politics.

- Ekrem Imamoglu will be purged from politics to prevent his candidacy for the presidency and to try to create a crisis within the CHP.

- By ensuring the support of the DEM Party, an attempt will be made to pave the way for constitutional amendments and the re-election of President Erdogan.

Of course, all this is not to establish the brotherhood of the Muslim Turkish and Kurdish people. This is just the cover of the matter because those who have nothing but secularism, nationalism and self-interest in their agenda, who do not look at politics from the view of “La ilaha illallah Muhammadun Rasulullah”, can neither unite the Ummah nor solve Turkey's problems. Whether it is the government or the opposition, such political structures cannot escape from being prisoners of colonialism, like their attitude during the Arab Spring and the ongoing Al-Aqsa Flood, they serve the interests of the colonialist infidels just to keep their seats. Their only purpose is to prevent the Islamic ummah from moving towards the Khilafah and to try to produce fake, artificial associations against the real unitarianism of the caliphate. The recent events in Turkish domestic politics in the spiral of economic crisis and social collapse are nothing but this.
