

The Kafir Roams Freely in Muslim lands... and There is No Deterrent to Him Except the Khilafah

(Translated)

News:

American diplomatic sources stated that the new US envoy to Iraq, Mark Savaya, carries an agenda for his work in Baghdad, based on three main points. Foremost among these is the non-renewal of contracts for Chinese oil companies operating in Iraqi oil fields, and their replacement with American companies.

The sources explained to "Eram News" that the other points on which Savaya was tasked by President Donald Trump, to work on supporting the formation of a government in Iraq following the parliamentary elections scheduled for November 11, not subject to any pressure from Iran, nor are they to be controlled by the Popular Mobilization Forces factions and influential movements loyal to Tehran.

Sources confirmed that the third task assigned to Savaya upon assuming his post in Baghdad is to develop a plan for Washington to find a genuine solution to the Popular Mobilization Forces (PMF) issue, aiming to eliminate their influence and dominance within Iraq, given their role as a strategic and military arm of Iran in the country. Comment:

The appointment of the new US envoy to Iraq, Mark Savaya, comes at a time when Iraq is experiencing a precarious situation due to the dominance of armed factions and the conflicts among political forces, which have descended to the lowest levels of morality in the wake of the elections.

Despite having the largest embassy in Iraq, the US did not send an ambassador, opting instead for a chargé d'affaires, thus reducing the level of diplomatic representation. Instead, it sent an envoy directly to the US president, implying that his activities differ from those of traditional diplomacy, as he possesses broad authority to act on political, social, and commercial levels. It is worth noting that US envoy Mark Savaya is the third US envoy to Iraq since Paul Bremer in 2003, after the occupation of Iraq, and Brett McGurk during the war against ISIS in 2014, all of whom were appointed in turbulent circumstances.

Although we have not heard any statement from the Iraqi government on this matter, it indicates direct interference by the American occupier and proves that Iraq is an occupied country lacking sovereignty, regardless of any claims made by the Iraqi government to the contrary.

This is the state of Muslims after the fall of the Khilafah (Caliphate) and the fragmentation of their lands. Their enemies roam freely, dictating the terms of life and governance, and even belittling us. The head of disbelief, Trump, declared during the recent Sharm El-Sheikh Summit that "We have Iraq with Iraq with lots of oil. They have so much oil. They don't know what to do with it." He added, "That's a big problem when you have so much, you have no idea what to do with it." This is what they say, but what they conceal in their hearts is even worse.

O Muslims, nothing will deter America and its allies among the disbelieving nations except the Khilafah on the Method of Prophethood, and the Khalifah of the Muslims who will eradicate the kafir colonialist from our lands, prevent him from interfering in our affairs, and thwart all his plans.

So let us strive diligently for this great Shariah obligation, so that you may return to being the best of Ummah as you once were, and attain worldly glory and the bliss of the Hereafter.
