Aden Refineries between the Greed of the Americans and the English to Privatize them...
And the People of Yemen have the Final Say to Make them Public Property
(Translated)

A number of works related to the Aden refineries, including the fact that its administration showing the refinery's deficit falsely and making it import the fuel instead of extracting it from crude oil, dismissal of its workers, making the refinery worthless (zero value) and suspending workers demanding the operation of the refineries and in addition to exposing refineries to negligence and deliberate sabotage under the dominance of the occupying forces, all these have revealed a tendency in the government of Moin Abdul Malik to offer Aden refineries "for international privatization", as stated by Oil Minister Aws al-Oud during a television interview with Al Ghad Al Mushreq TV channel. The planned work to damage the refineries began at the beginning of 2019 with a fire in its reservoir, and a visit by a delegation from the World Bank to Aden recently and his meeting with Moin Abdul Malik.

The initiation of steps to privatize Aden refineries comes in response to pressure from the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund (IMF), which they exert on the government of Moin Abdul Malik in their plans to control all the economic components of Yemen in favor of those who pushed them to work in Yemen, America, to be held by American companies behind the curtain.

The Americans, through the Bank and IMF, came to acquire the public property in Yemen to companies such as Maine and Bechtel and their likes from American companies under the name of privatization, at the inattention by its people in the name of structural programs provided by the Bank and IMF for its prey from country's perishable economies, because they have applied a capitalist economic system to Muslims. The British, who are taking over the economy in Yemen, did not wake up its people and how can they do so, but they went to the other policy of stealing these public properties in the hands of its apparent people, whose interests attached to those of Britain as Ahmed al-Issa, son of Sultan Al-Oudali, who was crowned sultan of the Abyan governorate by Britain during its occupation of the south Yemen, who with the complicity of Britain possessed many economic facilities in Yemen, and is now working to acquire and buy Aden refineries after leasing the reservoirs of Aden refineries. According to Western capitalist economists, the economically successful countries are those that have not taken the advice, recommendations and programs of the Bank and the IMF, which are quickly shifting from the economic mentors in the country they come to save them from economic stumbling to the owners of their economic facilities that they came to save them from economic stumbling! Since their founding after World War II, in Bretton Woods in America, the Bank and the IMF have targeted the destruction of tens of countries by controlling their oil and mineral resources and capabilities, starting with Indonesia, Egypt, Iran, Malaysia, Guatemala, Bolivia, Brazil, Ecuador and Latin Mexico, and not lastly Yemen...

How long will people in Yemen be silent about what is being done to them? When do they realize that they can prevent the signing of privatization programs planned by the Bank and the IMF with the complicity of their rulers? As they have an economic system has been able to run economic life at the best for more than 1300 years, or have they succumbed to the argument that there is no economic system in Islam?! Hizb ut Tahrir puts into the hands of the people of Yemen an economic system that can be applied today within other systems of life affairs; political, social, foreign policy, etc. in the Khilafah Rashidah (rightly guided Caliphate) state on the method of the Prophethood that it works for its establishment.
